Royal Ascot Dress Code

Royal Ascot has long been associated with sartorial excellence and elegance. The Royal Ascot dress code is firmly tied into this belief and invites guests inside the wide range of enclosures, restaurants and facilities to contribute to an occasion which is considered one of the highlights of the fashion calendar.

The Ascot dress code reflects the tradition and history of Royal Ascot. At the turn of the 19th century, the dress code for men inside the Royal Enclosure was dictated by Beau Brummell, one of Britain's first fashion icons. That sense of style still survives at Royal Ascot to this day and continues to make this unique meeting so popular with both racing fans and fashion lovers.

So whether you are enjoying Ladies Day, the Royal Enclosure or the Queen Anne Enclosure; fashion and style are an essential part of your day at Royal Ascot.

Each enclosure at Royal Ascot has a different dress code. Read on for our full guide to the dress code within the Village Enclosure.

Royal Enclosure

Gentlemen:

Gentlemen are required to wear either grey, black or navy morning dress inside the Royal Enclosure, this must include:

- Waistcoat and tie (ties can be 'playful' but no cravats)
- Black or grey top hat
- Black shoes, worn with socks

Gentlemen may remove their top hat when inside a Royal Ascot hospitality restaurant, a private club, a private box or that facility's terrace, balcony or garden.

Hats may also be removed within an enclosed external area inside the Royal Enclosure Garden. The customisation of top hats inside the Royal Enclosure is not permitted.

Ladies:

Ladies are required to wear formal daywear when inside the Royal Enclosure and this is defined below:

- Dresses and skirts should be of modest length, falling just above the knee or longer
- Tops and dresses should have straps of one inch or greater
- Jackets and pashminas are permitted but must be worn over dresses and tops to comply with the dress code inside the Royal Enclosure
- Trousers suits are allowed but should be of full length and matching colour & material
- Hats should be worn; but a headpiece which has a base of 4 inches (10cm) or greater in diameter is an acceptable alternative

Ladies should also note the following:

- Halter neck, strapless, off the shoulder and spaghetti straps are strictly not permitted
- Midriffs must be covered
- Fascinators and headpieces without a base of 4 inches (10cm) are not permitted
